

O'Meally-Nelson – Postmaster of Jamaica.

Dr. Blossom O'Meally-Nelson

PMG From Sept 2000 to Sept 2005

Dr. Blossom O'Meally-Nelson was the Chief Executive Officer of the Postal Corporation of Jamaica Limited and the Postmaster General for Jamaica. She was appointed the CEO of PostCorp in March 2000 and assumed duties as Postmaster General in September 2000.

Professionally, Dr. O'Meally-Nelson has been involved in a number of areas as an Educator, Management Consultant and Environmentalist. She is a graduate of the University of the West Indies and holds a B.A. (Hons.) degree in Geography and Sociology, the post graduate degree in Education and a Doctor of Philosophy in Social and General Psychology.

Before joining PostCorp, Dr. O'Meally-Nelson served as Chief Executive Officer of the National Development Foundation of Jamaica which provides loans and technical assistance to small and micro-enterprises. The Foundation, under her leadership showed significant growth and received international attention.

Dr. O'Meally-Nelson was responsible for establishing and managing the Work Force Development Consortium, a labour market service organization, set up under the auspices of the Inter-American Development Bank.

Dr. O'Meally-Nelson was also instrumental in the transformation and upgrading of the College of Arts, Science and Technology (CAST) into the University of Technology, Jamaica (UTECH).

A dynamic communicator, with passion for public service, Dr. O'Meally-Nelson is a well-known public speaker, authored the book, "Hazards of Entrepreneurship," and was host for the television programme "Businessline."

Dr. O'Meally-Nelson held a number of additional appointments, including Pro-Chancellor and Chairman of Council for the University of Technology, Jamaica; Chairman of the Jamaica Conservation and Development Trust and Director of the Board at the National Development Foundation of Jamaica.

