John Milbourne Marsh: An Overview
We know about John from the "History of the Ancient Family of Marsh" by Joseph J. Green, Archivist and Genealogist, 1903, revised to date by Wm. Ernest Marsh, of Marston, Bromley, Kent, 1912. This gives very little information other than what I have noted above. It should be noted that in this book the name Milbourne is spelt "Milburne" which is not how John's ancestors spelt their name.

In the Island Record Office, in Jamaica, there is a record of John Milbourne Marsh marrying Frances Elizabeth Grant at Kingston on 28 October 1816 (Kingston Copy Register 1721-1825: Marriages, vol.1).

This record is in the Island Record Office:
There is a James Milbourne Marsh who was Police Magistrate for Bathurst, New South Wales, Australia, 1869-74, after which he took a post in Sydney. [Mitchell Library, Sydney, item no. ML MSS.1177]. With his second name being Milbourne I think it is safe to assume that he was the son of John Milbourne Marsh. In addition he was known to the Miss Marsh Caldwells as his photograph is in their photo album.
